

MICH is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to improving the standard and quality in workforce development for public health.

MICH
Missouri Institute for Community Health
Partners for Better Health

722 E. Capitol Avenue
Jefferson City, MO 65101

(573) 634-2914

Dennis@michweb.org

www.michweb.org

MICH
Missouri Institute for Community Health
Partners for Better Health

This Local Public Health Agency is accredited by the Missouri Institute for Community Health.

What does that mean to you?

What is Accreditation?

Accreditation means this Local Public Health Agency has voluntarily completed a challenging, comprehensive evaluation. The agency has made a significant effort to achieve standard that affect the quality and safety of your life.

Only a small percentage of local public health agencies have gone through this evaluation process.

Congratulations on choosing an accredited agency!

Whenever and wherever you receive public health services, look for the MICH's Accreditation logo.

Accreditation means your Local Public Health Agency is prepared to provide the highest quality service to your community

An Accredited Agency:

- Delivers foundational public health services and meets Missouri's standard of practice;
- Protects your community from the spread of infectious disease;
- Gathers timely and locally relevant health information to guide planning for a healthier community;
- Educates you about the public health issues and policies important to you;
- Protects your rights as a patient, including your right to confidentiality;
- Plans for emergency situations;
- Ensures your safety by inspecting restaurants, septic systems and other environmental hazards; and
- Trains their employees to lead in their field of public health practice.

