Job Title: Accreditation Review Team Member

I. Summary of Position

A Reviewer works as a member of a team to conduct on-site reviews of local public health agencies (LPHA) within the state of Missouri that are seeking accreditation. The Reviewer reports directly to the Accreditation Program Coordinator. The Reviewer engages LPHA staff in dialogue on standards based issues in public health in order to assess compliance and to identify opportunities for improving compliance. The Reviewer evaluates the agency's performance and prepares site visit reports that clearly link performance deficiencies with potential systems vulnerabilities. The Reviewer effectively communicates this information in an exit interview to the LPHA leadership and with the development of the Feedback Report submitted to the Accreditation Council. Reviewers should be familiar with accreditation standards, and will attend training for the review process.

Reviewers for MICH are selected on the basis of education and public health experience.

II. Responsibilities

Reviewers will evaluate an agency's compliance with accreditation standards based upon review of agency policy, personnel files, meeting minutes, file and documents, and upon observation of agency practices and physical facilities. Reviewers are expected to offer relevant and practical consultation and dialog that will assist LPHA staff to improve their processes and systems to deliver quality public health services. Reviewers will prepare written reports of their findings following the on-site review. The ability to travel to review sites is necessary.

Note: Qualifying public health experience may be obtained in a setting other than in a state or local public health agency. Examples include work that focuses on community health or population health improvement.

- Is a university or college faculty member in an instructional program of public health, health administration, community health nursing, or environmental health.
